Former Lac la Biche Fur Farmer Visits Friends

LAC LA BICHE — Mr. Art Combs, representative of The Western Canadian Raw Fur Company, Vancouver, spent a week here visiting with fur farmers and friends. The Company is the only fur auction sales in the world owned by the fur farmers. Mr. Combs has been a shareholder and director in this Company since its incorporation in November, 1949—and since then the firm has doubled the business.

Mr. Combs spent two weeks in the interior of British Columbia, one month in Alberta, in McLeod, Edmonton, Calgary, Lac la Biche and Slave Lake district. He is an old-timer here, having operated a fur farm at Lac la Biche for several years. For the past six years he has lived at White Rock, B.C., where he operates a mink farm known as "Rainbow Ranch." He has over 500 pure white mink on his ranch and 700 pastels. He is a firm believer in advertising and the live mink show. He attends the Alberta Show each year, also the Western International Show held at Salt Lake City, Utah. He is the show manager for the Lower Mainland Fur Breeders' Association of B.C. this year, and would like to take this opportunity to extend to his many friends a very cordial invitation to attend their live mink show being held in the Garden Building, Exhibition Park, Vancouver, B.C., on January 18, 19 and 20 of 1953. Last year, Mr. Combs states, he received an average of $5.00 more on the pelts than any other one. He will start pelting on November 20. He has six men to do the pelting with three women helpers.

Junior Oat Club Holds Exhibition

HYLO — The Hylo Junior Oat Club Exhibit was held Oct. 21, in the Hylo School.

Mr. Godel asked the members questions concerning their project, and after the answer was given, he explained each answer, such as control of pests, raising better quality grain, control of weeds, etc.

After Mr. Godel finished, Mr. Black was introduced to the class. Mr. Black answered all questions asked by the members.

The samples were judged by Mr. Ferris.

Mr. Ferris gave an interesting speech on the samples, explaining the bad points and good points of the oats. Mr. Godel spoke on weeds.

The winners were as follows: First, Walter Strachuk; second, Edwin Strachuk; and third went to Raymond Warren.

The display table was green with a violet back, with yellow streamers and a blue shield with "Hylo Jr. Oat Club Exhibit" written on it.

The samples were lined on the table in clean sacks, which made a very attractive display.

Following the judging lunch was served. At the head table were, Mr. Raymond Warren, chairman; Mrs. B. A. Meardi, teacher; Mr. Godel, Mrs. Godel, Mr. Black, Mr. Ferris, the judge; Mr. Smith, club leader; Mr. Warren, and Mr. Suchko, school principal.

Fort Chipewyan Man Believed Drowned

EDMONTON — RCMP in Edmonton Tuesday reported that Thomas Evans, 71, of Fort Chipewyan was drowned in Lake Athabasca sometime between Oct. 11 and Oct. 17.

The accident occurred somewhere between Point Bass and Big Island, 15 miles from Fort Chipewyan, about 400 miles northwest of Edmonton. RCMP received a report that dragging operations are being carried out to locate the body.

Repairs

If there are no new worlds for this year's crop of graduates to conquer, there is a lot of repair work needed on this one.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mother Rescues Child From Burning House

CHARRON — Mrs. J. Zion of Charron rushed into their burning home and rescued the baby, carrying her through the flaming kitchen to the only exit. Two older children had notified the mother of the fire.

Mr. Zion was in Edmonton at the time of the fire and Mrs. Zion, having left the three children in the house, went out to do the chores. Only a few minutes after her departure, the two eldest children went tearing out to tell her of the disaster.

After rescuing her baby, who was unharmed, Mrs. Zion went to her nearest neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. A. St. Jean, for help, but nothing could be done — all was lost.

Mr. Jess Fischer reported the case to the Plamondon Red Cross branch executives and they in turn phoned Mr. Muir of the Canadian Red Cross for help. The same night a generous parcel of bedding and clothing was received and sent out to the family.

Thanks to the Red Cross for their prompt action.

Last Two Boats Arriving At Port Winds Up Record Shipping Season

LAC LA BICHE — Two boats racing up the shallow Athabasca river, marked the end of a record shipping season in the north country.

Tuesday, Oct. 21, the Northern Transportation Company's M.V. Clearwater and M.V. Radium Queen were about 140 miles north of Waterways and were literally dragging bottom as the crews raced to reach port safely before the northern freeze-up.

The two major companies, Northern and Yellowknife Transportation Co. Ltd., report that 1952 tonnage figures have broken all previous records.

Approximately 68,000 tons of freight were moved into the north by Northern Transportation, which operates 66 barges and 22 boats from home base at Waterways. Last year the firm handled 52,000 tons of freight.

Believed New Record

Yellowknife Transportation, which operates three boats and five barges, accounted for about 12,500 tons. Although this figure is an estimate, officials of the firm believe it is a new record.

Much of the shipping by Northern this year was to and from the new Uranium development at Beaverlodge north of Lake Athabasca. The firm's boats handled 30,000 tons in the form of construction supplies, equipment and lumber for the new area.

Yellowknife handled 11,000 tons of bulk petroleum products, mostly to and from Norman Wells, and 1,500 tons in miscellaneous freight from its headquarters at Hay River, south to Fort Smith and as far north as Aklavik and Fort McPherson in the Arctic.

The Radium Queen and the Clearwater have returned from their last trip to the Beaverlodge mining area, taking supplies for the long winter, during which the little community will be isolated except for planes and tractor train.

Boats Run Aground

The two vessels were delayed four or five days after crossing Great Slave Lake, according to Frank W. Broderick, general manager of Northern.

Mr. Broderick said the boats ran aground when high winds blew most of the water out of the shallow Athabasca River delta at the southwest end of the lake.

Three other company boats, returning from final trips, reached (Continued on Page 8).

Assistant Director Of Public Health Nursing Visits Plamondon

PLAMONDON — Mrs. D. McPhale, Assistant Director of Public Health Nursing, Department of Public Health, spent a few days in Plamondon at the Nurses' Home.

During her visit here a meeting of the Nurses' Home Committee was held, and topics of interest discussed. It was decided that a few minor repairs would be done and the lot on which the Nurses' Home is situated will be purchased.

Mrs. McPhale gave an interesting talk on the new Health Unit set up and its advantages in this district in case of an epidemic.

Mrs. McPhale then went on to Breynat to visit the Breynat and Wandering River districts.

The Tuberculosis X-Ray Clinic has just arrived in the district. The personnel of the clinic are Miss Louise Edwards, clerk; Mr. Charles Goff and Joseph Uhryn, X-ray technicians.

Lac la Biche To Get Provincial Park

EDMONTON — Alberta Government officials announced a new provincial park has been approved for the Lac la Biche area 100 miles northeast of Edmonton. More than 590 acres of land, immediately north of the town and including portions of the southeastern shores of Lac la Biche, will be known as Big Island Provincial Park.

McMurray-Waterways School Closed

Due to an epidemic of communicable diseases, the schools of Waterways and McMurray are closed, also all public buildings for children 16 years and under. The ban was enforced by the resident health officer, Dr. W. A. MacDonald.

Manitoban, Albertan Exchange Wedding Vows

BRIEREVILLE — Miss Eva Henderson, daughter of Mrs. Winnie Henderson and the late Howard Henderson, became the bride of Mr. Bill Zawada, son of Mrs. Zawada of Winnipeg, Man., on Saturday, October 18. Rev. D. A. Greenough, B.A., B.D., performed the marriage ceremony in the Lac la Biche United Church. Mrs. T. E. Lett played the organ during the ceremony.

Eva was beautifully dressed in a lace and net gown of white. Her bridal halo was decorated with pearls and she wore a train-length veil. She carried a bouquet of roses.

For her bridesmaids she chose her cousin, Miss Shirley Taylor of Bonnyville, and friend, Miss Lola Whitford of Edmonton, dressed in net over satin gowns of rose and blue respectively.

The groom was attended by a brother and cousin of the bride, Percy Henderson and Albert Venne.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served to approximately 75 guests. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake and two bouquets of roses.

Mrs. Winnie Henderson received

ed the guests, dressed in grey. Her corsage was an ice box flower, a gift from her son-in-law, Bill.

A dance was held in the evening at the Brierville school house, where everyone enjoyed themselves. Lunch and the wedding cake were served to the guests.

A collection was taken for the happy couple for which they expressed their thanks.

The bride and groom are going to Winnipeg to visit Mr. Zawada's mother while on their honeymoon. Congratulations are extended to them both.

DR. W. H. SWIFT ADDRESSES HOME AND SCHOOL MEETING

EDMONTON—On Tuesday evening, October 14, a large number of High School parents attended the regular meeting of the Strathcona High Home and School Association. A lively singsong, led by the music-loving president, Mr. C. Oseroff, created a friendly and sociable atmosphere for the evening's program.

During the brief business session, recommendations were received from the executive, the most interesting of which was the plan for a dance to be held in Garneau gymnasium under the auspices of this Parent-Teachers organization, to which all students of the high school and their parents were to be invited. The plan was wholeheartedly approved by the members. When the dance was held on Friday evening it was very well attended by both parents and pupils. Looking in on the "Harvest Hop" as it was called, several hundred people, young and old, were thoroughly enjoying themselves hopping through square dances, under the direction of Mr. Thomson, principal of King Edward school.

Following the business meeting, a very delightful piano solo was rendered by Miss Marie Peterson, who obtained the highest mark in the province in the Toronto Conservatory exams, receiving a silver medal for her skill.

The president then introduced the speaker of the evening, a loyal member of the Home and School, but in his official capacity—deputy minister of education, Dr. W. H. Swift. The topic chosen for Dr. Swift's talk was the High School Curriculum, its aims, and recent changes. The speaker pointed out that what the high school does for the pupil depends of course on the directions of the department of education, and also of necessity on the ability of the teachers to handle the courses prescribed; but back of these, are the views of the university, and the opinions of the interested public, i.e. the parents.

Significant changes have been recently effected in the high school curriculum as it was known and there will be more changes taking place in the next few years.

Dr. Swift reminded the parents of two points to be considered when criticizing the course of studies. (1) When it comes to changing anything once established, there is seldom a straight road ahead. Arguments are reasonable on both sides—the old and the new. Such matters are always controversial. (2) There is seldom or never, a step taken by the department without much discussion with many people representative of many points of view.

Dr. Swift went on to state that there had of late been many complaints regarding the accomplishments of high school students; the university complains that the students are ill-prepared for any scholarly work in English, mathematics and languages. The high school as a body complains of too much domination by the university, in planning the over-all requirements for a high school diploma and matriculation. (3) Students complain of having to take useless and uninteresting subjects in order to qualify for various positions, i.e. Trigonometry for nursing. (4) Business men complain that high school graduates cannot spell or compute in simple arithmetic. (5) Parents complain that the course for high school graduates is too difficult as too many students have to repeat their grades.

Following a brief submitted by the Provincial Home and School organization to the University Senate, a committee was set up to investigate the whole situation composed by seven representatives from the university, seven from the department of education—the last seven being made up of three curriculum experts from the department itself, one from the teachers' organization, one from the Home and School Association, and a city school superintendent. The changes decided on were arrived at after long study together by these 14 people, and after having returned the suggestions to former committees involved for revision or suggestions, all this having taken over three years, in the study phase. Now the changes must be put into effect.

Two sides of educational demands were kept in mind. (1) The high school must serve both matriculation students and those who do not plan to go to university. Subjects must be made available which would prepare many students for business life, or encourage their interest along particular lines, providing a respectable high school standing without limiting them to the narrower academic courses required for matriculation. (2) Even the university requirements must be modified to be more reasonable in the light of more modern work being done by the university. However it must be remembered that the university does require certain prerequisites so that students can proceed at a university level. Also the university wishes to make sure that students have the mental capacity to do university work.

The general decisions were as follows:

(1) No faculty should require more than six grade subjects.

(2) There should be more compulsory time for English.

Estimate Wheat Crop 172,500,000 Bushels

Good harvesting weather has helped Alberta farmers complete all but a small percentage of the threshing, according to the United Grain Growers Ltd. crop report of October 16, issued Monday.

Estimated average yield per acre in bushels is wheat, 26.9; oats 47; and barley 34.6. Production for these grains is estimated at 172,500,000, 122,000,000 and 115,500,000, respectively.

(3) Students must have an average of 60 per cent in the six grade 12 subjects.

(4) It will now be possible for a student to qualify in two languages in three years if he wishes.

The more specific decisions were:

(1) Students must get 21 credits in English to qualify for grade 12, the increase being in language rather than literature.

(2) Only 15 instead of 20 credits compulsory in mathematics, a three credit course being optional in grade 12 in trigonometry for those who wish it.

(3) There will be only two years of any foreign language, the emphasis being on the written language rather than on the spoken. An oral course in French may be taught in grade 10 where there is a demand for it and a properly qualified teacher available.

Dr. Swift concluded his talk by asking for patience and understanding on the part of parents and teachers. He assured the gathering that the department had the best interests of the students at heart. A period of keen questioning followed, which had to be cut short by the president, who invited everybody to remain for a cup of coffee and a social hour.

It is a poor executive who can't explain why the government ed when a subscriber asks the shouldn't ease regulations as they editor to write an editorial on a affect his business. subject he has just discussed.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

A Key Service for Farmers
Of the many technical services available to farmers today none is more important than seed testing. This is why many thousands of farmers in Western Canada make it a regular practice each year to send their seed-grain samples to this Department for germination, smut, and other seed tests.
Why Test Seed? Today, it is more important than ever for farmers to know just exactly what kind of seed they are planting. To many the "kind" of seed means "variety." But there are many other factors besides variety which affect the kind or "quality" of seed a farmer sows. These factors include the germination, freedom from smut, and the weed seed content.
Germination Test Important. A germination test is by far the most important of all seed tests because it tells us what percentage of the seeds are alive and capable of producing strong, healthy plants. After all, if seeds won't germinate (grow), they're not fit for seeding purposes. No farmer can afford to sow low-germinating seed. There are other seed tests too, such as tests for surface-borne smut and for weed seed content, that help grain growers to avoid pitfalls which might easily result in decreased yields and grades.
A Free Service. As a service to farmers, the Line Elevators Farm Service operates a first-class seed testing laboratory. Again, it offers, without charge, to make germination, smut, and other seed tests on farmers' seed samples of Wheat, Oats, Barley, Rye and Flax. The method is simple. All you have to do is deliver a truly representative "cleaned" sample of the seed stock you want tested to the local Agent of any of the Line Elevator Companies listed above. The agent will forward the sample to us and return the results to you. Do it today. Our tests, however, are not official seed tests. Seed offered or advertised for sale must be tested at a Government Seed Testing Laboratory (Winnipeg, Saskatoon or Calgary).

Last summer my chum took her little boy to visit cousins at Westlock. One of the cousins, a girl, took him out to gather eggs. After looking in several places, she said, "Let's look in the horse barn." The little boy went and said nothing. On arriving back in the city, my chum asked him if he'd had a good time and did he like going with the girl to gather eggs? He looked at his mother and said, "Yes, but wouldn't you think a big girl like her would know horses don't lay eggs?"

The Winner Gets a Headache

Whether General D. Eisenhower or Gov. Adlai Stevenson wins the general election, the victor is letting himself in for a big headache. Immediately facing him will be the end of the war boom, which will threaten to throw the economy into a recession.

In addition to that, the victor will be saddled with a $263,000,000,000 debt and a tax rate which must be lowered if the voter is to be satisfied. Thus, defense spending will have to be cut, since the needed economies cannot be effected in the relatively small amount of non-defense spending included in the annual budget.

If General Eisenhower wins, it will be a new experience for the Republicans. They have not known anything like the present situation, which will face the inhabitant of the White House. The last Republican President, Herbert Hoover, had a government civilian payroll of 600,000, a military force of 240,000, a 4.7 billion dollar budget and a government debt of 19.5 billion. If the next President is a Republican, he will have to manage a government civilian pay roll of 2.5 million, an armed services strength of 3.5 million, an annual budget of 85.4 billion, and a government debt of 263 billion dollars.

The job of being President of the United States has become such a stupendous undertaking that political scientists are beginning to question whether one person can do an effective job in that post. As President Truman knows, two terms in the White House is enough to wear out any man and more than two is likely to kill most of them. Thus, the office is America's highest honor, though the job is one of the most strenuous in the world today.

Farming a Dangerous Occupation

There seems little doubt that farming is one of our most dangerous occupations and that greater care must be given to the matter of farm safety.

The National Safety Council in the United States has classified farming as the third most hazardous profession, behind coal mining and railroading. The American Medical Association, however, places agriculture ahead of the others largely because it has no organized safety program.

Graham Anderson, director of rural safety for the Alberta Safety Council, points out that in Alberta alone up to September there were 20 tractor accidents resulting in death and many others causing serious and disabling injuries. He says that if farm safety is to become a reality in Alberta then each farmer must work out his own safety program and become his own safety committee. Every farmer should do his part in reducing the frightening number of farm accidents in the province.

Record Churchill Shipments Likely

A record volume of around 9,000,000 bushels of grain will likely be shipped from the port of Churchill this year, according to R. K. Smith, chairman of the national harbors board. In times of emergency Churchill could handle 12,000,000 bushels, he said. A total of 28 ships will take grain from that port this year. The Dominion government-owned terminal here has a capacity of 2,500,000 bushels.

Note and Comment

Russia—Bombs Or No Bombs

New York engineer Carlton S. Proctor recently declared, in Chicago, that, in his opinion, "every one of the atomic explosions in Russia was just a premature explosion, in an effort to produce a bomb." Proctor is President of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

In 1930, Proctor worked on Russia's second largest dam, east of Leningrad. In World War II he was an Army engineer, who helped build the Persian Corridor road, over which supplies to Russia were hauled. "The Russians have no confidence in their own engineers and I have never met a Russian engineer, who was a Communist, who was any good," Proctor said.

If the engineer's views are right, the United States may breathe a bit easier. If they are wrong, and contribute to a feeling of security which is unfounded, the cost to the country might be considerable.

Let's Not Handicap the "Handicapped"

(From the C.I.L. Oval)

There is in this country a group of people referred to by employment officers as "handicapped employables." We can probably think of some who live in our communities. Perhaps we know a few.

By and large, they are fellow-Canadians who have certain physical, mental or social handicaps which limit them in terms of the types of work they can do. But many of them have valuable job skills. Others may have no particular skills, but certainly have the capacity to develop them.

The individual types of handicaps range into the hundreds, and include many readily recognizable, such as physical deformity, disfigurement, blindness, deafness, amputations, age and a wide variety of non-infectious diseases.

But, in addition to their individual handicaps, these people suffer in common from one other handicap. This one is by far the most serious, the most formidable, and the most discouraging of all.

It is the attitude of many employers—or could-be employers—toward them.

Many employers, probably without realizing the consequences, automatically demand a high physical capacity of all the people they engage, whether the job requires high physical capacity or not.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce drew attention to this problem at its last annual meeting when it noted that: "Available evidence demonstrates that those employers who have had experience with physically handicapped workers have found that their performance when suitably placed compares favorably with that of the able-bodied in similar work. The Canadian Chamber of Commerce believes their employment to the greatest extent possible is socially and economically desirable."

Employers who do not weigh these factors are virtually robbing themselves—and society—of a good source of workers whose productivity and loyalty have been repeatedly and conclusively demonstrated. At the same time, they are needlessly withholding from a sizable group of Canadians the opportunity to achieve a fair measure of social and financial independence.

For example, a person with one arm would be fully efficient doing work that requires the use of only one arm; a person with the use of only one foot, or no feet at all, would be fully efficient doing a sedentary job; a person with a disfigurement would be fully efficient if his fellow workers treated him just like any other human being.

The "handicapped employables," ask only for a chance to show their worth. They ask only that they be judged for employment on the basis of what they can do, not on the basis of what they cannot do.

THANKSGIVING

Sunday, October 12, was "Thanksgiving" Sunday. Were you at your church to give "Thanks unto the Lord"? We, at the United Church had a beautiful service, the church was appropriately decorated, the minister left you with a thought for thanks and God, and the choir gave special songs of thanks and praise. Personally, I get much spiritual help and food for thought from our services. The same is there for you if you want it, and don't say you don't need it, we all do. True, going to church alone, won't get you to heaven, but where else are you going to hear the word of God. You need the Church and the Church needs you.

We, this year especially, have so much to be thankful for, and one way of showing our thanks is by attending your church regularly.

UNION PAINT BRUSH

I would assume yours is not a very ardent union paper.

You gave advice for house painting. It was not new to me that a wide brush is both more rapid and makes a better job. I had my house painted, as I am getting beyond the age to be climbing on ladders. I only painted the garage. The two dollar an hour man informed me that there was a limit to the width (I believe 3 1/2 inches) the union would allow their members to use. So you see you will make people who have to hire their houses painted feel badly.

I might say, at the rate I paid, I made big wages with a large brush.

JUSTIFIES DUKE

Did anyone hear the Duke of Edinburgh flatly refuse to "kick-off" at last Fall's football game? Knowing the normal naval and sporting activities engaged in by the Queen's husband, I suspect he would much rather have "kicked off" than be hedged in by formalities surrounding Royalty. It ill begets anyone to level such unfair criticism against one unable to defend himself.

"Nose-snubbing" royalty — indeed! Such insults come from a decadent intelligence. A gracious apology on your part would be in order.

Do not forget, sir, as an editor you have it in your power to mold and guide the minds of many. Especially do I refer to those many who have lately left, are leaving and will continue to leave lands that have been torn by war-torn, and all the isms and schisms that man and devil ever invented. They come to our great country hopeful and trusting that under our free, democratic and just institutions they will obtain that peace, goodwill, justice and opportunity denied them in their own lands and become loyal and good citizens. Do not let them or any others be inoculated with such nonsense as "A Striking Contrast."

BANG'S DISEASE OF CATTLE

DR. E. E. BALLANTYNE, Director of Veterinary Services,
Alberta Department of Agriculture

This disease is the most important infectious cattle disease in Alberta, affecting both beef and dairy herds. It is important for two basic reasons: (1) Causes an estimated annual $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 loss to Alberta cattlemen; (2) Causes several cases of undulant in humans in the province every year, as the disease can spread from cattle to man.

The high loss is calculated on the number of calves born prematurely in infected herds, the lowered milk production for that lactation period in dairy herds, lowered value of infected animals and other effects of the disease. An example of the loss is as follows: A cattleman in Alberta in the Spring of 1952 had 32 cows give birth to their calves prematurely due to Bang's disease. All were dead. They were worth money, of course, but if they had lived they would have been worth a lot more in two years for finished beef. In two years at $300 apiece, they would have meant $9,600 extra gross income to that owner. Now, due to Bang's disease, he is going to be short that income. That's a lot of money to lose. That loss could have been prevented very easily if that cattleman had started four or five years ago to build up a Bang's resistant herd through calfhood vaccination. Give this serious thought. Losses due to Bang's disease can be prevented. If you have a clean herd now, protect your income and also the health of your family by building up a Bang's resistant herd. Don't wait until you have the disease in your herd or in your neighbor's herd across the fence.

Start now—delay may be costly. Make arrangements with your veterinarian to get your heifer calves vaccinated every year. Or list them with your District Agriculturist or Agriculture Service Board. A bulletin on Bang's disease is available from your District Agriculturist.

The Alberta Department of Agriculture recommends calfhood vaccination coupled with good herd management as an economical and practical way to prevent and control the disease. The co-operation of all cattlemen will be greatly appreciated in building up Bang's resistant herds by having all heifer calves vaccinated this Fall.

It Pays To Speak Frankly

In the current Reader's Digest Stuart Chase cites Pitney-Bowes, Inc., of Stamford, Conn., as a prime example of "two-way communication" in business. Under their system workers and managers tell each other frankly, in meetings and by written word, what habits in the other they object to. The payoff: at Pitney-Bowes productivity is up 40 per cent since 1942; dividends are up 100 per cent; workers' average yearly wage has jumped from $2,000 to $4,300.

Store Grain Above Ground On Wooden Floor

Dr. H. E. Gray, head of stored products insect investigations, federal department of agriculture, Ottawa, says a granary with a wooden floor above the ground is best for farm storage and several small ones are better than one large one. If grain is tough and damp the following procedure is recommended by Dr. Gray:

1. Repair leaky roofs, windows and doors to exclude rain or snow. If the floor is concrete, cover it with moisture-proof paper.

2. Clean walls and floors well and sprinkle a small amount of hydrated lime over the floor and sweep it around to fill the cracks.

3. If insects or mites were present last year, coat the inside walls with whitewash containing one quarter of a pound of lye per gallon.

4. Fill the granary to the plate, only. Ample space between the grain surface and the roof must be provided for ventilation.

5. Open bins or piles are risky. If available, well drained ground or even a thickness of two or three feet of straw should be used. Piles should be uniform cones.

Following these suggestions should eliminate a good percentage of loss in grain insofar as grading and therefore loss at sale time will be kept to a minimum.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:
I live in a small town and since the weather has been so hot I have been wearing shorts most of the time. Several days ago I had to go on the main street for some groceries and did not bother to change to a dress. My husband was very put out when somebody told him I was down town in shorts. Don't you think this is very foolish of him as nearly everyone dresses as they please nowadays?

E. R.

Answer:

I am afraid I will have to agree with your husband in this matter.
While young women go about in shorts at the beaches and at home, it is poor taste to shop in such apparel.

While I think that people, on the whole, are much more sensible in the way they dress now than they were years ago, some of them are inclined to go too far and the result is shocking to conservative people.

LOUISA.

PICTURED HERE is "Terry" Atkins of Minburn with her pet female coyote "Yip". "Yip" is as tame as any dog and the "baby" of the Atkins household. She was kept caged in an empty fox pen during the hunting season!

Drop That Rose!

The rose garden stretched, un-fenced, to the sidewalk, and it's owner was much annoyed with a neighbor who made a practice of picking the best blossoms. Finally, the owner's son, who works in a radio station, undertook Operation
Rose Protection.

One day Neighbor, stooping to cut a rose, recoiled from a slight electric shock as she touched the stem, then stood dumbfounded when the rose—aided by a small loudspeaker hidden in the flower-bed—hissed in a low tense voice:
"Leave me alone!" Neighbor did.
—Life's Like That in The Reader's Digest.

Dear Louisa:

I am from the South but I have been invited to spend a week with a girl friend of mine who is working in New York. I plan to go up in October and she will take a week off from work while I am there.

I want to go to some of the plays, Radio City, etc. I haven't a lot of money to spend on clothes but I do want one nice outfit. I have a nice coat. What do you think will be my best buy?

LOUISE R.

Answer:

A nice coat suit which can be dressed up or down according to your blouse and accessories will be your best buy. A small velvet hat, dressy blouse and suede slippers with pearls will dress it up for evening. A felt hat, sport shoes and tailored blouse will make it right for daytime wear.
If you have money enough left over, a basic black dress will be fine to wear under your coat, if the weather permits.

$1 for EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Editor will pay $1.00 for every item published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." To qualify, items must be true, personal incidents.
Address "Embarrassing Moments", P.O.
Box 4368, South Edmonton.

Once when I was in town I saw a girl just like the one I was in the hospital with. I touched her and said "Hi, Elsie." From far it looked just like my friend. Was I ever embarrassed, when I saw a strange face before me!

MISS ANNE EWASHKO.
Duffield.

Most of the time when we hear a knock on the door we always say "Come in." But one day my Dad knocked at the door. We said, "Come in." He never came in, so I went to the door. He was there, and he sure laughed at me.
So the next time a stranger came to the door, he knocked, and I said, "Come in, if your nose is clean." I thought it was my Dad, as nobody else was home. Was I ever embarrassed when I found out who it was!

JEWEL WAPSHOTT.

Western Handicraft In Huge CNR Show

Many articles, made by C.N.R. employees in Western Canada, are feature exhibits at a huge hobby show which opened recently in the C.N.R.'s Central Station at Montreal. These include a lamp, made in Winnipeg from the wood of a tree the young artist saw her father plant in the backyard; four exhibits from a shinyard superintendent at Prince Rupert, containing more than 20 different types of wood; a violin from an agent at Shell Lake, Sask.; leather goods from a clerk at Winnipeg; colored Easter eggs of intricate design from a stenographer at Winnipeg; needlepoint exhibits have been accepted from a clerk at Winnipeg, a Vancouver dragline engineer, and a section foreman at Mayfair, Sask.; and socks and mitts by a section man at Quill Lake, Sask., who has been knitting for the past 35 years and who knitted 50 pairs of mitts last winter. Other exhibits range from wooden nickels to a 50-foot scale model racing yacht and represent the handicraft of 150 C.N.R. employees in Canada and the United States. They will be on display over the station's stairwells and in the main concourse during a month-long exhibition.

Careless Shot Causes Near Tragedy

BON ACCORD—A careless hunter caused a near accident when Rickard Rafn and a hired man were hauling green feed.

After passing the teams and racks, the hunter fired a shot, scaring the rear team. They reared up, breaking the back end of the first rack. One horse then toppled sideways into the ditch, pulling its mate under the wagon tongue, causing quite a mixup.

The hunter seeing the tangle, jumped into his car and hurriedly drove off.

Consider Assistant

JASPER'S NEW MAIN LODGE TO BE READY FOR 1953 SEASON

JASPER — Donald Gordon, chairman and president, Canadian National Railways, recently completed his first visit to Jasper since the destruction of the main lodge by fire on July 15. He made a careful survey of the preliminary plans for the new building, which will be approximately one-third larger than the original lodge.

"I am delighted with the work that has already been accomplished," said the railway president. "The speed with which the debris was cleared away and work commenced on the excavation for the new building is amazing. I am much impressed with the early work of the contractors and they have promised to turn the new lodge over to us by the middle of May next. I have every expectation that this date will be met," declared Mr. Gordon.

While concrete and steel will be used in the construction of the new one-storey building from the fireproof point of view, every effort will be made to carry out the existing rustic type of exterior and interior that prevails in the adjoining guest cabins. The new dining room will be much larger than the old one and will seat more than 600 persons at one sitting. The executive offices, guest registration and shops, along with the dining room, ball room and ticket offices will be on the raised main floor, while immediately below will be the rest rooms, recreation and other public rooms.

The general arrangement on the ground floor will be most attractive with the dining room so placed that it will command a spectacular view of Lac Beauvert and the mountain ranges from its large picture windows. "When we open for business on June 15 next, we will carry on the tradition of the former lodge and will offer the public one of the finest centres known to holiday travel the world over," said Mr. Gordon.

No More Wood To Carry, School Has "Come Modern"

GRASSLAND — A new automatic oil furnace has been purchased for the school. A combination clock and thermostat will insure that by 8:00 o'clock in the morning the temperature will rise to 72 degrees, dropping to 50 degrees at 4:00 o'clock. A far cry from the time when the pupils or the teacher had to bring in wood for fuel.

Last Boats ...

Waterways October 20, after battling shallow water all the way up the Athabasca.

These were The Peace, returning from a final haul to Embarras airport. The Slave and the Radium Express, each returning from the Beaverlodge development area.

Drops Six Inches

Mr. Broderick said the captains of the boats were having considerable difficulty with the shallow water. It is always shallow at this time, but the last report, received stated that the level had dropped six inches in the last four days.

"In many cases the boats had run aground on sand bars, but we managed to plow through," he said.

Yellowknife Transportation has finished operations for the season.

The two largest craft owned by Yellowknife, the Richard E. and the Sandy Jane, have been put up for the winter at Hay River.

The Richard E. arrived at Hay River Oct. 5, after a final trip to Fort Smith. The Sandy Jane left Hay River for Norman Wells Oct. 5, and returned to home port Oct. 11.

Last Dash North

As the skippers guided their boats into winter ports, it was the end of the last dash to supply far north outposts until about the middle of May, when navigation on the waterways opens again.

On their last runs, the boats and barges carry mining machinery, equipment, construction supplies, fresh fruits and vegetables, dry goods and the hundreds of other items required.

Navigation on the northern waterways usually opens late in May, and freeze-up can come any time between the beginning and end of October. Boats have been on the water as late as Oct. 26, but after Oct. 10 most operators feel they are taking a chance.

This year's picture is in bright contrast with last year, when an early freeze caught transportation off base and left boats and barges frozen in solid all over the north.

Reception and Dance Held

GRASSLAND — Miss Natalka Dutchak and Mr. Joe Luchka, who were recently married, held a reception and dance in the Grassland Community Hall on Saturday. After a most delicious supper, the presentation took place, consisting of a large sum of money and many useful gifts.

The bride looked lovely in a yellow dress and wreath. Her bridesmaids were Miss Effie Andrick, in a very pretty shade of green, and Miss Olga Dutchak, sister of the bride, in mauve. They were attended by Mr. Lawrence Luchka and Mr. Orest Luchka, cousins of the groom.

Many friends and relatives of the newly-married couple came from far and near. The dance was a great success, and all went home feeling they had had a very good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Luchka will reside in Grassland and they are wished every success by their many friends.
